

Monthly insurance policy wording update

The Word, June 2023

28 June 2023

Welcome to June's edition of the The Word, a monthly summary of important and interesting stories, cases, news and views of interest to underwriters and those responsible for creating and distributing insurance policies. The Word is brought to you by Browne Jacobson's policy drafting and distribution team.

In this month's edition we feature an update following the Pizza Express decision in relation to COVID-19 losses, a look at issues relating to risk including a predicted increase in cyclones and the latest data on global resilience. We also consider the consequences for insurers of the latest boom in AI products and algorithmic underwriting. Finally, we review a case from Texas relating to the incorporation of contracts into insurance policies.

I hope you find this edition informative and interesting.

Tim

Contents

Pizza Express v Liberty: business interruption policy drafting considerations	→
Tropical cyclones are predicted to increase across the North Atlantic	→
Algorithmic underwriting, boosting time and cost efficiency	→
ExxonMobil v National Union Fire Insurance: meaning of 'additional insureds' guidance	→
The AI product boom: risks and opportunities for insurers	→
The FM Global Resilience Index 2023: underwriter risks	→
If you think data compliance is expensive – try having a data breach!	→

Key contact

Tim Johnson

Partner

tim.johnson@brownejacobson.com

+44 (0)115 976 6557