

Banking Transaction Update February 2022 – National transactions

08 February 2022

Browne Jacobson's banking and finance team continues to go from strength to strength. Read more in our deal activity press release.

Although there are the headwinds of inflation, interest rate rises, energy price increases, recruitment and supply chain challenges etc we are seeing an underlying confidence in the transactional market. This is also supported by strong levels of liquidity with the wide range of debt providers operating in the market including banks, alternative debt providers and debt funds. This is a trend that isn't showing any signs of slowing down in the immediate future.

Attached are brief details of a few recent deals we've been involved with nationally.
