

Life sciences connect: Navigating new horizons in politics, healthcare, and technology

📍 Online

📅 22 May 2025

Our panel discussion delves into the significant shifts and emerging trends in the global landscape of politics, healthcare, and technology.

This session aims to provide a dynamic exploration of disruptive strategies and digital advancements that are shaping our world.

Agenda

- Trump's disruptor approach: Analysing the 'America First' policy and its implications on international relations and trade.
- Revolution in UK healthcare: A critical look at the government's decision to abolish key NHS entities such as NHS England, NHS Improvement, Health Education England, and NHS Digital.
- Elon Musk's political and digital forays: Evaluating Musk's unique interventions in global politics and his influence on digital innovation.
- EU dynamics in the wake of global challenges: Exploring how recent geopolitical events like the Ukraine crisis and US tariff policies might influence new trade and labor agreements in the EU.
- Digital transformation in healthcare: Discussing the Department of Health and Social Care's shift from analogue to digital, and how this could revolutionise patient data usage and accelerate drug development trials.

Our panel will feature experts from related fields, encouraging a robust exchange of ideas. We will conclude with an interactive Q&A session, inviting questions from attendees.

We look forward to your participation in what promises to be an engaging and insightful event, shedding light on the intersections of politics, healthcare, and technology.

Please note that the session will not be recorded to maintain confidentiality and encourage candid discussions.
