

Insurance annual review 2018-2019

Our annual insurance review includes the key developments of 2018 and the important issues on the horizon.

31 January 2019

As we look back on legal developments in 2018 and to the challenges and opportunities for the insurance sector that lie ahead, it is clear that the market's resilience and ability to embrace change will remain critical to its success.

Brexit, GDPR, and case law continue to have an impact; and 2019 will see a number of important regulatory developments for the insurance sector. Our articles outline the key issues across the insurance sector to help ensure that you are informed and prepared for what lies ahead.

If you have any queries or would like more information about any of the articles in our review please do not hesitate to contact the authors; we would be delighted to hear from you.
