Emily is an associate in our real estate team and is based at the Birmingham office.

Part of the built environment team, which acts for both public and private sector clients, Emily joined Browne Jacobson as a newly qualified solicitor in 2024. Having trained at a large regional law firm in commercial-based departments, she also has paralegal experience in both commercial and residential property law.

Emily mainly focuses on public sector work and is involved in all aspects of commercial property matters.
